Apply

5 Rewrite this story and expand the noun phrases to make them more interesting.

Neela, an explorer, stared at the ground. There was a hole. She took off her hat and wiped her forehead. Sammy, her assistant, passed her a torch. Neela shone the beam, lighting up the cave. The floor seemed to be moving. Neela groaned. "Look, Sammy," she muttered. "There are dozens of frogs down there."

Tip

The determiner can change if the adjective or noun start with a different letter. For example, 'an engineer' becomes 'a talented engineer' because 'engineer' starts with a vowel and 'talented' starts with a consonant.
