

Key words

This book features the following words from the National Literacy Strategy list of common ('high-frequency') words for children in Reception classes:

are	my	they
in	no	this is	the

The National Literacy Strategy recommends that children are taught to recognise these words in context when reading. It also points out that the words will need to be reinforced through other practice and exploration activities so that they can be easily read out of context. Use this book to help the child become familiar with the words.
