

Your own personal style

Everyone needs a style of joined handwriting that is fluent and legible. However, this does not mean that all handwriting must look the same.

You can make small changes to your handwriting to develop a style that is comfortable for you. Letters should be formed and joined consistently within your own style.

my style my style

Try it

- 1 Copy each sentence twice using your usual joined handwriting. Compare your style with someone else's.

A bright vixen jumps while a dozen fowl quack.

How quickly those daft jumping zebras vex!

- 2 Copy each word three times using your usual joined handwriting.

fluent _____

legible _____

consistent _____

regular _____

individual _____

personal _____